

Deloitte celebrates success and honors employees

The management and partners of the financial consulting and accounting firm of Deloitte were proud to host an event at the Laguna Pier Restaurant of three employees that took upon themselves that task of improving their skills and becoming greater assets to the firm.

An evening of lively “ambiente” was held to congratulate Ionita Pawironadi, Benito Leofstop and Gkilmar Croes for their hard work and determination in completing difficult programs and earning certifications that advance not only their positions, but the prestige of the firm.

Gilmar Croes obtained his CPA degree from the State of Florida after nearly three years of study, Ionita received certification in ACCPAC administration and programming, and Benito achieved the title of Certified Information Systems Auditor, (CISA.)

Deloitte partners Marcelino Quant and Anthony Croes honored their employees for their ambition and determination to improve the position, and the employees in turn thanked them for their support and assistance in their studies and efforts to advance.

After a number of heartfelt speeches, the festivities began in earnest, with all the firm offering congratulations and a pat on the back for their colleague’s achievement. The Deloitte partners emphasized that they welcome all new employees that wish to advance themselves, and will assist them in this effort, as it helps the firm to maintain “the standard of excellence” with which they serve their customers.
